Australian blues guitarist and singer Fiona Boyes soulful, authoritative style — brilliantly displayed on her current US release 'Blues Woman' — has earned Boyes unprecedented international recognition. For the past three years she's been a final five nominee in the Memphis based Blues Music Awards, the only Australian ever to be nominated in these awards, which are widely recognised as the Grammys of the Blues. She received a "Contemporary Blues Album of the Year" nod in 2007 for her Yellow Dog debut, the electric 'Lucky 13'. The next year she garnered a ballot for "Contemporary Female Blues Artist of the Year." In 2009 she received an "Acoustic Blues Album of the Year" nomination for the recording 'Live From Bluesville', which also won the Los Angeles based International Blues Critics Award for Best Live Album.
