A modern Melissa Etheridge meets Janis Joplin.

Growing up in Virginia, Georgia Randall started singing gospel in church at the age of five. While still a teenager in high school she began singing professionally with local bands. Her roots are in rock, blues, gospel, and soul. She has traveled all over the country fronting several bands. Now a singer/songwriter performing her own original music this powerhouse singer remains true to her music roots, mixing up her style to appeal to a wide audience.
