Harp musician Tomislav Goluban presents his eleventh studio album entitled "Memphis Light". Nine of the ten tracks are written by Tomislav and the tenth is the classic "House of the Rising Sun." As suggested by the album title, Goluban took a trip to the Home of the Blues to record at Ardent studio in Memphis, Tennessee. ---cdbaby.com

Tomislav "Little Pigeon" Goluban, Croatian blues musician, composer, harmonica player and a singer, has been playing his harp inspired by old school masters like Sonny Terry or Slim Harpo. So far, he has released ten studio albums and won couple of national music awards. His music is combination of old delta, country & Chicago blues mixed with zydeco and world music elements. He's been recording his music in a wide span from raw delta duo sound to the full instrumental arrangement with 20 musicians playing one song. Performing solo/duo with a band, he played in the USA and in Europe in 20 countries. Here are just a few events he took part: Notodden Blues Festival (Norway), Amal's Blues Festival (Sweden), Blues sur Seine (France) and International Blues Challenge (USA).
