Personnel: Mississippi Fred McDowell (vocals, guitar); Grace Bowden, Fannie Davis, James Collins, Annie Mae McDowell (vocals).

The connection between rural blues and spiritual music is sometimes overlooked. This 1966 recording, featuring McDowell, his guitar, and the Hunter's Chapel Singers of Como, Mississippi (including his wife Annie Mae), is one of the best illustrations of how closely the styles can be linked. McDowell and company perform what the record subtitle calls "Mississippi Delta spirituals" on this stark and moving set, which includes a version of one of his signature tunes, "You Got to Move." The CD reissue adds three previously unreleased tracks. ---Richie Unterberger, Rovi
