

Johannes Brahms - Piano Concerto No.1 (1968)

Written by bluesever

Friday, 10 February 2012 19:59 - Last Updated Monday, 02 December 2013 14:14

Johannes Brahms - Piano Concerto No.1 (1968)

01. Maestoso [0:21:08.12] 02. Adagio [0:14:29.00] 03. Rondo: Allegro non troppo [0:11:32.00] Rudolf Serkin – piano Cleveland Orchestra George Szell – conductor (CBS Masterworks – Great Performances 66)

This is a titanic performance of the fieriest of Brahms concertos that has long been a favourite of mine. Serkin was a tremendously exciting pianist and here he is caught on a good day in full command of his considerable powers. This is a very large scale performance, fiery rather than grand, which it should be, as this is a young man's concerto. Szell accompanies wonderfully, challenging his soloist to greater and greater intensity. --- Mr Swallow (UK), amazon.com download: uploaded anonfiles yandex 4shared solidfiles mediafire mega filecloudio

back