

Katsuya Yokoyama - Japon L'Art Du Shakuhachi (1997)

Written by bluesever

Saturday, 31 January 2015 20:07 -

Katsuya Yokoyama - Japon L'Art Du Shakuhachi (1997)

1 San An (Enfantement Paisible) 6:58 2 Tamuke (Offertoire) 4:13 3 Sanya Sugagaki, Duo 6:45 4 Kokû (Vacuité) 10:52 5 Tsuru No Sugomori (Nid De Grues) 6:24 6 Azuma-Jishi (Danse Du Lion De La Région D'Azuma), Duo 3:05 7 Reibo (Quête Spirituelle) 12:09 8 Shikano Tône (Bramements Lointains Des Cerfs), Duo 9:23 9 Reihô (Clochette De La Loi Bouddhique) 4:30 Katsuya Yokoyama – Shakuhachi Yoshikazu Iwamoto – Shakuhachi (3,5,6,7)

Ocora is known for the quality of the musicians the label produces. This one with Katsuya Yokoyama is clearly one of these. Yokoyama is considered one of today's five greatest Japanese shakuhachi masters, and he does not disappoint on this release; he is a master totally in control of his instrument, his art, and his craft, and especially of a tradition that is still evolving. Although Japanese are known to hold dearly to traditions, with regard to the shakuhachi, each master is able to add something of his own. Yokoyama does not disappoint in this respect. --- Bruno Deschênes

Tai Hei Shakuhachi - Japanese Bamboo Flutes is used as a tool for zen Buddhist meditation as well as playing classical, jazz & traditional Japanese folk music.

download (mp3 @192 kbs):

Katsuya Yokoyama - Japon L'Art Du Shakuhachi (1997)

Written by bluesever

Saturday, 31 January 2015 20:07 -

uploaded yandex 4shared mega solidfiles zalivalka cloudmailru filecloudio oboom

back