When government advisers keep telling us to cut down our sugar intake this disc might not be a bad place to start.

In a selection of seasonal standards from “Silent Night” to “White Christmas” the inimitable, if now sometimes vocally wobbly Plácido Domingo duets with heavenly choirs and guest singers, such as Vincent Niclo and Hayley Westenra.

The tinkly orchestral arrangements, big on snowflake effects and Christmas tinsel, are a throwback to middle-of-the-road LPs from the 1960s. The saccharine level ranges from red-flag warning to potentially fatal glucose overdose. --- ft.com
