

Placido Domingo - Bajo El Ciel Espanol (1996)

Written by bluesever

Friday, 26 March 2010 15:09 - Last Updated Saturday, 15 March 2014 22:21

Placido Domingo - Bajo El Ciel Espanol (1996)

01. Granada
02. Clavel Sevillano
03. Novillero
04. Murcia
05. Cuerdas De Mi Guitarra
06. Madrid
07. Fermin
08. Sevilla
09. Españolerias
10. Valencia
11. Silverio
12. Toledo

Placido Domingo - Tenor Julio Hernandez - Bass Orlando Hernandez - Drums, Drum Set
Jeff Kaye - Trumpet Manny López - Guitar, Guitar (Acoustic), Guitar (Electric) Gary Mayone -
Percussion Lester Mendez - Synthesizer Kelly Peral - Oboe Mark Shubert – Percussion VVC
Symphonic Orchestra Bebu Silvetti - Conductor, Keyboards, Piano

Domingo is the master on this recording, and does offer a closer emotional character than some other loved Spanish offerings. It is well to remember also, this is such a great selection of Agustin Lara songs, and brings us to remember, "El Flaco de Oro" was truly a great writer of the Boleros for a lifetime. Here, Domingo becomes the vehicle for the historical values of the style. A must have recording, with only a few areas of concern, basically slips in the mix, and curious key changes and heavy orchestrated areas that Lara might not value, were he alive to hear.
---John Cont, amazon.com

download: uploaded yandex 4shared mediafire solidfiles mega filecloudio nornar zi
ddu

Placido Domingo - Bajo El Ciel Espanol (1996)

Written by bluesever

Friday, 26 March 2010 15:09 - Last Updated Saturday, 15 March 2014 22:21

back