

Charles Mingus – Mingus Mingus Mingus Mingus (1963)

Written by bluesever

Friday, 16 October 2009 10:11 - Last Updated Wednesday, 13 August 2014 17:01

---

Charles Mingus – Mingus Mingus Mingus Mingus (1963)

1. Il B.S. – 4:46 2. I X Love – 7:38 3. Celia – 6:12 4. Mood Indigo (Duke Ellington/Barney Bigard) – 4:43 5. Better Get Hit in Yo' Soul – 6:28 6. Theme for Lester Young – 5:50 7. Hora Decubitus – 4:41 8. Freedom – 5:10 Jay Berliner - Guitar Don Butterfield - Trombone, Trombone (Bass), Tuba Jaki Byard - Piano Eric Dolphy - Flute, Sax (Alto) Rolf Ericson - Trumpet Booker Ervin - Sax (Tenor) Dick Hafer - Clarinet, Flute, Oboe, Sax (Tenor) Quentin Jackson - Trombone Charlie Mariano - Sax (Alto) Charles Mingus - Bass, Piano, Vocals Walter Perkins - Drums Eddie Preston - Trumpet Jerome Richardson - Flute, Sax (Baritone), Sax (Soprano) Dannie Richmond - Drums Richard Gene Williams - Trumpet Britt Woodman - Trombone

Having completed what he (and many critics) regarded as his masterwork in The Black Saint and the Sinner Lady, Charles Mingus' next sessions for Impulse found him looking back over a long and fruitful career. Mingus, Mingus, Mingus, Mingus, Mingus is sort of a "greatest hits revisited" record, as the bassist revamps or tinkers with some of his best-known works. The titles are altered as well -- "Il B.S." is basically "Haitian Fight Song" (this is the version used in the late-'90s car commercial); "Theme for Lester Young" is "Goodbye Pork Pie Hat"; "Better Get Hit in Your Soul" adds a new ending, but just one letter to the title; "Hora Decubitus" is a growling overhaul of "E's Flat Ah's Flat Too"; and "I X Love" modifies "Nouroog," which was part of "Open Letter to Duke." There's also a cover of Duke Ellington's "Mood Indigo," leaving just one new composition, "Celia." Which naturally leads to the question: With the ostensible shortage of ideas, what exactly makes this a significant Mingus effort? The answer is that the 11-piece bands assembled here (slightly different for the two separate recording sessions) are among Mingus' finest, featuring some of the key personnel (Eric Dolphy, pianist Jaki Byard) that would make up the legendary quintet/sextet with which Mingus toured Europe in 1964. And they simply burn, blasting through versions that equal and often surpass the originals -- which is, of course, no small feat. This was Mingus' last major statement for quite some time, and aside from a solo piano album and a series of live recordings from the 1964 tour, also his last album until 1970. It closes out the most productive and significant chapter of his career, and one of the most fertile, inventive hot streaks of any composer in jazz history. ---Steve Huey, Rovi

Charles Mingus – Mingus Mingus Mingus Mingus (1963)

Written by bluesever

Friday, 16 October 2009 10:11 - Last Updated Wednesday, 13 August 2014 17:01

---

download: uploaded yandex 4shared mediafire solidfiles mega zalivalka cloud.mail.ru fileclo
udio
anonfiles
oboom

back