Personnel: Louis Armstrong (vocals, trumpet); Joe Garland (conductor, tenor saxophone, reeds); The Mills Brothers, Velma Middleton, Ann Baker, Jimmy Anderson, Bea Brooze (vocals); Rupert Cole (alto sax, clarinet); Budd Johnson, Dexter Gordon (tenor saxophone); Shelton Hemphill, Frank Galbreath (trumpet); George Washington, Henderson Chambers (trombone); Barney Bigard (clarinet); Gerry Wiggins (piano); Lawrence Lucie, Norman Brown (guitar); Chick Morrison, Jesse Price (drums).

Other than the soundtrack version of "Jeepers Creepers" and two other items, all of this CD is taken from broadcasts of Armstrong's little-known and unrecorded orchestra of 1943. Much of the music is fairly routine swing, but the Armstrong trumpet (which always sounds so enthusiastic) and features for The Mills brothers ("Paper Doll") and clarinetist Barney Bigard make this rarity of some interest. ---Scott Yanow, Rovi
