

Toots Thielemans And His Orchestra – Guitar And Strings . . . And Things (1967)

Written by bluesever

Friday, 17 August 2018 14:29 -

Toots Thielemans And His Orchestra – Guitar And Strings . . . And Things (1967)

*A1 The Continental A2 Autumn Leaves A3 I Wonder Why A4 Sunny A5 A Man
And A Woman A6 Quarter To Five B1 I Got Plenty O' Nuttin' B2 Wave B3 Stuck Up
B4 Throughly Modern Millie B5 What Kind Of Fool Am I B6 So What's New*

Rarely has one performer combined such an array of extraordinary talents as this remarkable master musician and entertainer Toots Thielemans. A virtuoso guitarist with a brilliant style that is all his own a pioneering master of the harmonica, creator of a superb jazz style... A whistler who turned this common, everyday practice into a full-fledged part of his musical arrangements, and a composer of delightfully unforgettable melodies as Bluesette. Here is the ingenious Toots Thielemans in a set of recordings woven together in arrangements which are full of constantly changing colors. ---freshsoundrecords.com download (mp3 @320 kbs):

yandex mediafire ulozto cloudmailru gett

back