

The Offspring - Days Go By (2012)

Written by bluesever
Sunday, 01 July 2012 11:53 -

The Offspring - Days Go By (2012)

- | | | |
|---|---|--|
| 1. The Future Is Now | 4:08 | 2. Secrets From The Underground |
| 3:09 | 3. Days Go By | 4:01 |
| 3:41 | 5. Hurting As One | 2:49 |
| 6. Cruising | | |
| California (Bumpin' In My Trunk) | 3:30 | 7. All I Have Left Is You |
| 5:18 | 8. Oc Guns | 4:07 |
| 4:00 | 10. I Wanna Secret Family (With You) | 3:01 |
| | | 11. Dividing By Zero |
| | 2:22 | 12. Slim Pickens Does The Right Thing And Rides The Bomb To |
| | | 2:36 |
- Personnel Dexter Holland – lead vocals, rhythm guitar, piano Noodles – lead guitar, backing vocals Greg K. – bass guitar, backing vocals Josh Freese – drums, percussion

After nearly three decades of making sunny California skatepunk, the Offspring get autumnal with their reflective ninth album, Days Go By. Though the band still maintains the same driving, hooky sound that it's always had, the album feels less aggressive and more wistful and yearning. "Days Go By" seems like punk rock tailor-made for fall weather with its meditations on the impermanence of youthful anger, as if the Offspring are offering some sage advice for those coming up after them. A similar vibe courses through "All I Have Left Is You," which switches back and forth between smoothed-out verses and big, guitar-heavy choruses, seeming like a much more adult version of the band than fans might have ever heard previously. While other parts of the album don't quite have the same adult contemporary punk feeling, the songs are generally more melodic and grown-up. All in all, Days Go By is more for fans who have been with the band for a while than those just tuning in, and while die-hard Offspring followers will be able to see the shift in the band's sound as part of a logical progression, new listeners would be better served by checking out some of their earlier, more urgent work. --- itunes.apple.com download: uploaded ziddu

The Offspring - Days Go By (2012)

Written by bluesever

Sunday, 01 July 2012 11:53 -

back