

Tangerine Dream – Blue Dawn (2006)

Written by bluesever

Monday, 12 October 2009 21:10 - Last Updated Thursday, 31 January 2019 22:53

Tangerine Dream – Blue Dawn (2006)

1 _Where Dreams Are Large And Airy (6:21) 2 _Riding The Wind (4:37) 3 _Thunderheads (7:27) 4 _Eagle's Crest (5:37) 5 _Food For The Gods (8:24) 6 _Without A Bad Conscience (6:02) 7 _Cardamom Route (5:02) 8 _A World Away From Gagaland (7:06) 9 _Native Companions (4:14) 10 _Blue Dawn (7:01) - Edgar Froese - guitar, synth, electronics, producer - Ralf Wadephul - synth, electronics

The 'Blue Dawn' is a collaboration between an old chap of Edgar, Ralf Wadephul (he accompanied TD on their US tour in 1988) and Edgar Froese himself.

It contains unreleased stuff from the two guys which came out of nightliner sessions, hotel suite compositions and later collaborations.

The material of this album was composed during Tangerine Dream's North American tour back in August/September 1988. weeks after weeks in tour buses, planes, hotels and various locations gave the two guys here the opportunity to get musically into something different off stage. The plan was to release the stuff as an on and off the road album later in the year. The road feeling as well as the summertime in the states had been a strong influence for these compositions. The album was completed while hanging out after the tour at a friend's place in LA. Because of various reasons the album had a delay for over about seventeen years before it now will be presented to the public." ---audio-music.info download (mp3 @320 kbs):

Tangerine Dream – Blue Dawn (2006)

Written by bluesever

Monday, 12 October 2009 21:10 - Last Updated Thursday, 31 January 2019 22:53

yandex mediafire ulozto gett bayfiles

back