

Doogie White & La Paz - Granite (2012)

Written by bluesever

Saturday, 03 March 2012 09:39 - Last Updated Friday, 26 January 2018 20:54

Doogie White & La Paz - Granite (2012)

01. Too Good To Lose play 02. This Boy 03. Lesson In Love 04. Amy 05. Just For Today
06. What Do You Say play 07. Still In Love 08. Young And Restless 09. Shame The Devil
Musicians: Doogie White (Vocals), Chic McSherry (Guitar), Alex Carmichael (Bass), Andy Mason (Keys), Paul McManus (Drums).

"Playing in La Paz was certainly the most fun of any band I have ever been in. We took it very seriously though and our professionalism was never in question. What killed us, in hindsight, was image. At that time bands like Bon Jovi and Whitesnake were going all pretty-boy and then Europe came along and everyone in the music business wanted to sign androgynous blonde Swedes. It just wasn't us and we were probably stupid for trying to get that "look", but that was the only way that anyone in A&R would talk to us. Classic case of "never mind the music, feel the spandex". So we lost our deal before we got our first album released...such is life...but now we have GRANITE!

It was a great wee rock band though and we've all remained true friends. We do occasional get-together shows just for the hell of it and man do we have a blast. We've also put up our old demos for sale online with the proceeds going to charity. Buy 'em all folks! " --- Doogie White, doogiewhite.com download (mp3 @320 kbs):

yandex mediafire uloz.to cloudmailru gett

Doogie White & La Paz - Granite (2012)

Written by bluesever

Saturday, 03 March 2012 09:39 - Last Updated Friday, 26 January 2018 20:54

back