

White Hills – Heads On Fire (2012)

01 – Radiate 02 – Oceans Of Sound 03 – Return Of Speed Toilet 04 – Visions Of The Past, Present And Future 05 – Don't Be Afraid 06 – Eternity Musicians: Jordan Redaelli -Bass [Extra], Vocals [Extra] (tracks: 5) Ego sensation - Bass, Vocals Bob Bellomo -Drums Tim Evans - Drums [Extra] (tracks: 5) Dave W. - Guitar, Vocals, Synthesizer [Moog, Korg, Trio Ag-203 Oscillator]

After two critically acclaimed self released CDR's Rocket Recordings are proud to announce the release of Heads on Fire, the first official album by New Yorks' White Hills. Ever changing and always striving to push the envelope, White Hills new album Heads on Fire finds the band playing a heavier style of spacerock as compared to their previous releases. Relentless and punishing, the album kicks off with the spacey swirl of the song Radiate and ends with the speedladen blast of the track Eternity. Along the way, a mesmerising blend of fuzz/wah guitar growl, pounding bass, sprawling synth, and chaotic drumming doses one's head three sheets to the wind. Whether it be the mere one minute track Return of Speed Toilet or the 26 plus minute Don't Be Afraid, the listener will be taken on ride through a world that is all encompassing from beginning to end. --- RavellsRecordExpress download (mp3 @VBR kbs):

yandex mediafire ulozto gett bayfiles

back