DIRT is a German heavy metal band that was established in 2008 in Schwäbisch Hall. Their music can be categorized as „Sludge/Doom Metal“ with a strong addition of blues and southern rock. The band themselves call their sound Southern Groove Metal“. DIRT were founded in 2008 by singer Sven Zaklikowski after having diverse problems in his former band. Due to this situation he already had written many songs throughout 2007 and 2008 which were very different to the metalcore stuff that was hip in those years.

The songs for the debut album „Suicide Blues“ were recorded in 2008 and 2009, Sven recorded all drums, guitars, bass and vocals BY HIMSELF. Thiemo Hille, who was playing together with Sven in the cover-band Fire from 199 to 2004 did the solo parts on all songs and joined the band right after the recordings. Soon after the line up was completed by adding Marius Rebmann, Florian Stollberg and Marcel Unger.

On July 10th, 2009 the first album was released through their own Label Dirt Rock Records as in the metalcore-hype the band did not find a matching partner for their music. This decision proved to be right as the band got a very positive feedback in metal press and established a solid fan base in their home area. Another great achievement was the inclusion of the song „Breaking Down“ on the compilation „Metal-Crusade Vol.XIX“ of the German „Heavy“ magazine. During 2010 and 2011 DIRT played numerous shows and local festivals expanding their fanbase in Southern Germany. End of 2011 DIRT were signed by Massacre Records who will release their 2nd album „Rock´N Roll Accident“ on November 23rd. --- massacre-records.com
