'96 Lisa and her music are featured in a successful wine commercial. Lisa is spotted and approached by several independent movie companies but declines all offers. She closes the year appearing live at the film premier of Quentin Tarrantino's and George Clooneys' Vampire movie Dusk til Dawn.

'97 Lisa takes a break from music to start her own wine company, Cupid Wines. (www.cupidwines.com) Lisa receives the silver medal designer award for her Cupid label design and she also receives 3 gold medals for the quality of her Australian wines.

'98-'99 Lisa takes time out from her wine business and teams up with Boy George (Culture Club, Ministry of Sound) in London to record a techno/garage track called Vampire Love to promote Vampire wine in the clubs in the US. The song proves to be a success in London dance clubs and NY club scene and sells thousands pf 12 inch red vinyl editions on the Vampire web site. Lisa is offered a recording deal with a well know dance label in London but declines the offer respectfully. ---lisadominique.com
