

Clarence 'Gatemouth' Brown - Just Got lucky – The Blues Collection Vol.35

Wpisany przez bluesever

Poniedziałek, 01 Październik 2012 16:50 - Zmieniony Poniedziałek, 26 Październik 2020 16:31

Clarence 'Gatemouth' Brown - Just Got lucky – The Blues Collection Vol.35 (1995)

01. Pressure Cooker 02. Let The Good Times Roll 03. Ain't That Just Like A Woman 04. Sad Sad Hour 05. Choo Choo Boogie 06. Slow Down 07. She Winked Her Eye 09. Salt Pork West Virginia 10. Taking My Chance 11. Ain't Nobody Here But Us Chickens 12. Just Got Lucky 13. Cold Storage Musicians: Clarence "Gatemouth" Brown – guitar, harmonica, vocals Roland Loblogeois – bass Milt Buckner – organ Jay McShann – piano Arnett Cobb – tenor saxophone Michael Silva, Paul Gunther – drums

Born in Vinton, Louisiana, Brown was raised in Orange, Texas. His professional musical career began in 1945, playing drums in San Antonio. He was nicknamed "Gatemouth" for his deep voice. He received notice, and his fame took off, during a 1947 concert by T-Bone Walker in a Houston nightclub. When Walker became ill, Brown took up his guitar and played "Gatemouth Boogie," to the delight of the audience. He soon played guitar and other instruments, living primarily in Texas.

In the 1960s he moved to Nashville to participate in a syndicated R & B television show, and while he was there recorded several country singles. He struck up a friendship with Roy Clark and made several appearances on the television show Hee Haw. By the late 60s he had decided to leave the music business and he moved to New Mexico and became a deputy sheriff.

However, in the early 1970s several countries in Europe had developed an appreciation for American roots music, especially blues, and Brown was a popular and well-respected artist there. He toured Europe twelve times, beginning in 1971 and continuing throughout the 1970s. He also became an official ambassador for American music, and participated in several tours sponsored by the U.S. State Department, including an extensive tour of Eastern Africa. He moved to New Orleans in the late 1970s. ---last.fm

Clarence 'Gatemouth' Brown - Just Got lucky – The Blues Collection Vol.35

Wpisany przez bluesever

Poniedziałek, 01 Październik 2012 16:50 - Zmieniony Poniedziałek, 26 Październik 2020 16:31

download (mp3 @320 kbs):

yandex mediafire ulozto gett bayfiles

back