Anita O'Day and Cal Tjader – Time For Two (1962)

Anita O'Day and Cal Tjader – Time For Two (1962)

Thanks for the Memory
It Shouldn't Happen to a Dream
Just in Time
Under a Blanket of Blue
That's Your Red Wagon
Peel Me a Grape
An Occasional Man
The Party's Over
I Believe in You
Mr. Sandman
Spring Will Be a Little Late This Year
I'm Not Supposed to Be Blue Blues

Anita O'Day – vocals Cal Tjader – vibraphone, drums Johnny Rae – vibraphone, drums Freddy Schreiber – bass Bob Corwin – piano Lonnie Hewitt – piano

In another experiment, producer Creed Taylor teams O'Day with the alternately Latin and bop-grounded quartet of vibraphonist Cal Tjader -- and he gets some amazing performances from this team. O'Day sounds as if she is delighted with Tjader's polished Afro-Cuban grooves, gliding easily over the rhythms, toying with the tunes, transforming even a tune so locked into its trite time as "Mr. Sandman" into a stimulating excursion. Indeed, O'Day's freewheeling phrasing becomes downright sexy on "That's Your Red Wagon" and Dave Frishberg's delicious parody of a spoiled honeybunch, "Peel Me a Grape." Also, thanks to Taylor's obsession with good engineering and tasteful applications of reverb, O'Day's voice sounds much fuller and more

Anita O'Day and Cal Tjader – Time For Two (1962)

Wpisany przez bluesever Niedziela, 28 Marzec 2010 19:37 - Zmieniony Czwartek, 17 Lipiec 2014 19:38 attractive in his productions than on her Norman Granz-produced albums. ---Richard S. Ginell, Rovi download: uploaded yandex 4shared mediafire solidfiles mega zalivalka filecloudio anonfiles oboom

back