After exploring Baroque violin music from Naples (Musica Napoletana), Christoph Timpe now turns toward rome (Simfoniae Romanae) with his Accademia Per Musica. This young Italian chamber ensemble once again throws light on a forgotten chapter of music history with trio sonatas from the period before Arcangelo Corelli (1653-1713). The sonatas by Colista, Lonati and Stradella are more than just interesting precursors of later masterpieces. --- Editorial Reviews, amazon.com
