

Donovan - Sunshine Superman (1967)

Wpisany przez bluelover

Środa, 07 Wrzesień 2011 18:42 - Zmieniony Piątek, 06 Styczeń 2017 09:31

Donovan - Sunshine Superman (1967)

Side one 1 "Sunshine Superman" – 3:15 play 2 "Legend of a Girl Child Linda" – 6:50
3 "Three King Fishers" – 3:16 4 "Ferris Wheel" – 4:12 5 "Bert's Blues" – 4:00

Side two

6 "Season of the Witch" – 4:56 + 7 "The Trip" – 4:34 8 "Guinevere" – 3:41

play

9 "The Fat Angel" – 4:11 10 "Celeste" – 4:08

Personnel Donovan - vocals and acoustic guitar Bobby Ray - bass "Fast" Eddy Hoh - drums Shawn Phillips - sitar On "Sunshine Superman": Donovan - vocals and acoustic guitar Jimmy Page and Eric Ford - electric guitars John Cameron - keyboards and arrangement Spike Healey - bass Bobby Orr - drums Tony Carr – percussion

Sunshine Superman is the third album from Scottish singer-songwriter Donovan. It was released in the United States in September 1966. but was not released in the United Kingdom because of a contractual dispute. In June 1967, a compilation of the Sunshine Superman and Mellow Yellow albums was released as Sunshine Superman in the UK. Sunshine Superman was named after Donovan's hit single released the previous July.

These recordings mark a distinct change in Donovan's music, representing some of the first psychedelia released. A full rock band backs up Donovan on many of the songs, and the instrumentation has been expanded to include sitar and other unique musical instruments. This change is partially the result of working with producer Mickie Most, whose pop sensibilities led to chart hits for many other artists at the time.

Donovan's lyrics began to encompass his increasing ability to portray "Swinging London" and give listeners an insider's look into the mid-sixties pop scene. He was known to be close to The Beatles and Brian Jones at this time, and he became widely known after "Sunshine Superman"

Donovan - Sunshine Superman (1967)

Wpisany przez bluelover

Środa, 07 Wrzesień 2011 18:42 - Zmieniony Piątek, 06 Styczeń 2017 09:31

became a chart-topper in the US, and hit #2 in the UK. Donovan's penchant for name-dropping in songs such as two influenced by his travel to Los Angeles, "The Trip" and "The Fat Angel" (written for Mama Cass) coupled with his chart success helped elevate him to superstar status. In addition to noting the people in the pop scene, Donovan recorded "Bert's Blues" for his friend and folk music notable Bert Jansch.

Contrasting this modern bent was Donovan's fascination with medieval themes in such songs as "Legend of a Girl Child Linda" (written for Brian Jones' girlfriend Linda Lawrence) and "Guinevere". The rich descriptions of colour and environment that Donovan developed in individual songs on Fairytale were now evident throughout his writing.

Several other songs were recorded for Sunshine Superman, but did not make the cut. These include "Museum" (later rerecorded and released on Mellow Yellow), "Superlungs My Supergirl" (later rerecorded and released on Barabajagal) and "Breezes of Patchulie" (originally called "Darkness of My Night" and released on Donovan's 1964 demo collection Sixty Four). The Sunshine Superman recordings of these songs were all included on Troubadour The Definitive Collection 1964–1976.

In the video for the Beatles' "A Day in the Life", a close up of a spinning turntable shows the Epic Records version of Sunshine Superman playing. The film was shot at the recording sessions for the song, which was included on Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band.

download (mp3 @192 kbs):

yandex 4shared mega mediafire cloudmailru uplea ge.tt

back